

Doctor's orders kept us locked in the house for the next few days, only rising on Sunday for the I'm Going To Kill You Podcast Party at PURE. We won't spoil the merriment for you by telling you what wicked and wonderful things happened that evening...you will absolutely have to turn into the boys Podcast for that...but let's just say that the night ended up with one man dashing thru the rain chasing after an escort. Wow!

